BUILDING DREAMS FROM THE GROUND UP

CLEAR FORK MATERIALS' JOURNEY OF GROWTH AND VISION

"Our goal is to be one of the finest and most respected stone yards in the industry. We work with people's dreams from the ground up."

Darryn McClure, Owner and President
Clear Fork Materials

For Darryn McClure, owner and president of Clear Fork Materials, success isn't measured solely by tons of material moved or acres mined. It's measured by relationships, vision, and the opportunity to help customers bring their dreams to life.

Located in Aledo, Texas, just west of the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex, Clear Fork Materials has become one of the region's premier providers of landscape stone, masonry products, aggregates, mulch, and dirt. But the company's current success is the result of a carefully planned evolution years in the making.

BUILDING ON A STRONG FOUNDATION

"Clear Fork Materials has been in business for over 35 years," McClure said. "We purchased the company in 2019 after spending about 45 days with the previous owners to make sure it was the right fit for us."

The company originally operated on 160 acres of ranch land and was well-known throughout the community. The former owners had built a respected reputation, and McClure was determined to preserve that legacy while positioning the business for future growth.

"When we purchased the company, we knew that at some point we would need to make some adjustments to our operations," he explained. "Being a dirt, mulch, and aggregate company was great, but we knew there was an opportunity to do something more."

“The relationship we’ve built with Bruckner’s and Shawn Wood has been exceptional.”

Darryn McClure, Owner and President
Clear Fork Materials

A STRATEGIC PIVOT

That opportunity came quickly. Within six months of acquiring Clear Fork Materials, McClure and his team purchased an additional 60 acres from a neighboring competitor, expanding their mining operation to 220 acres.

Soon after, another opportunity emerged that would ultimately redefine the business. McClure developed a relationship with a local family that owned a successful stone yard in Aledo. When the family decided to exit the business, he seized the opportunity to acquire the operation.

“It had already been successful for 30 years,” McClure said. “We didn’t really change much except the name. We focused on building a great team, establishing strong core values, and creating a culture people wanted to be part of.”

The acquisition proved to be the turning point he had envisioned. “Within about two years, we knew this was exactly where we needed to be,” he said. “Today, Clear Fork Materials is not just a dirt and mulch pit. It’s one of the finest and most respected stone yards in the region.”

BRINGING CUSTOMERS’ VISIONS TO LIFE

That vision continues to guide the company today. “Our goal is to be one of the finest and most respected stone yards in the industry,” McClure said. “We work with people’s dreams from the ground up.”

Whether supplying custom stone for a luxury home, specialty brick for a unique architectural project, or landscaping materials that complete an outdoor living space, Clear Fork Materials plays a role in helping customers create something meaningful.

“I get excited when I see a family’s dream home come to fruition,” McClure said. “Even if Clear Fork Materials only provides a small part of that project, whether it’s stone, brick, or landscaping materials, it’s rewarding to know we were part of that journey.”

Today, Clear Fork Materials operates three locations, with plans to open another location in the near future as demand continues to grow.

DRIVING GROWTH WITH VOLVO TRUCKS

Supporting that growth has required strategic investments in transportation and logistics. Freight represents one of the company’s largest expenses, and McClure recognized an opportunity to bring more of that operation in-house.

“One of our biggest expenses is freight,” he explained. “We knew it was time to start building our own trucking fleet rather than relying as heavily on outside brokers.”

THE BRUCKNER’S AND VOLVO ADVANTAGE

SERVICE SUPPORT

LONGEVITY

COST CONTROL

As Clear Fork Materials continues to grow, Volvo Trucks remain essential to help control costs and support the long-term company vision.

“We’re excited about growing, and we’re excited about growing with Volvo Trucks to help us continue that journey.”

That decision led Clear Fork Materials to Volvo Trucks and Bruckner’s Truck & Equipment. Working closely with Bruckner’s Sales Representative, Shawn Wood at Bruckner’s Fort Worth location, McClure began adding Volvo trucks to the company’s fleet and plans to continue expanding.

McClure said, “As we continue to grow, those Volvo trucks will help us control costs and support our long-term vision.”

WHY VOLVO AND BRUCKNER’S?

The decision was driven by more than just equipment specifications. “When we looked at the analytics, the preventive maintenance programs, the service support, and the longevity of the trucks, Volvo really stood out,” McClure said. “It aligned with our vision for the company.”

Equally important was the relationship built with the Bruckner’s team. “The relationship we’ve built with Bruckner’s and Shawn Wood has been exceptional,” he said. “They’ve always treated us with the highest level of respect, and the support we’ve received has been outstanding.” Being able to partner with a local company also provided practical advantages. “We like doing business with local companies,” McClure said. “The proximity made sense logistically, and the level of support has made it very easy to do business with Bruckner’s.”

LOOKING AHEAD

For McClure, growth is about more than adding locations, trucks, or equipment. It’s about building trust and earning respect over time. “You have to earn people’s respect,” he said. “You don’t gain it overnight.”

That philosophy has helped Clear Fork Materials establish itself as a trusted partner for homeowners, builders, contractors, and designers throughout North Texas. As the company continues to expand, McClure remains focused on the same mission that guided the business from the beginning.

“We’re excited about where we’re headed,” he said. “We’re excited about growing, and we’re excited about growing with Volvo Trucks to help us continue that journey.”

With a commitment to quality, strong relationships, and a vision centered on helping customers bring their dreams to life, Clear Fork Materials continues to build a foundation for success.
